- What is different?

Answer: The DNS server IP address might change once the domain controller is promoted. It typically sets itself as the primary DNS server to manage DNS queries within the domain.

- Why ?

Answer: This change helps in resolving DNS queries for Active Directory services and for locating domain resources efficiently within the network

- Record the DNS server IP address: ipconfig /all

- Based on the value recorded above, what is the real IP address of the DNS Server? Answer: If the DNS server lists itself, the real IP address of the DNS Server would be the same as the domain controller's IP address.
